SWEDEN, in a bottle.

Still and sparkling water from Sweden, made for the moments that matter.

HAVA began with a simple idea: water this pure deserves a bottle as beautiful as the place it comes from. Heavy glass, a brushed gold cap and four letters, drawn as clean as the Swedish landscape.

Sweden is a land of ancient granite, deep pine forest and around 100,000 lakes. Rain and snowmelt sink slowly through the stone and come back up cold and clear.

PURE

Clear water, clear glass, clear words. Nothing added that doesn't need to be there.

CALM

Space, slow light and quiet confidence. HAVA never shouts.

SWEDISH

Lakes, forest, stone and ice. The landscape is in everything we show.

MADE FOR THE MOMENT

Long dinners, slow mornings, the aperitif and everything in between.

THE wordmark

FOUR LETTERS, ONE LINE WEIGHT

HAVA is drawn in clean, even strokes. The A is a peak with no crossbar; the V is the same peak turned over.

THE LINE BELONGS TO THE LOGO

The line under the letters runs their full width. Keep it in every version except the plain wordmark.

NEVER RETYPE IT

The logo is drawn, not typed. Always use the supplied files (SVG, PNG or PDF) and never rebuild it from a font.

SPACE AND size

Clear space: keep at least x free on every side, where x is half the height of the letters. Nothing else (text, edges, other logos) enters this area.

For the icon and monogram, keep a quarter of the circle's width free on every side.

HOW HAVA speaks

Calm, short and concrete. Like the landscape: nothing extra. We describe what is real (the water, the glass, the place) and let it speak for itself.

DO	DON'T
Short sentences. One idea each.	Shout, exclaim or use capitals for emphasis.
Concrete words: lake, stone, glass, gold.	Claims we can't prove ("the purest in the world").
Facts with a source (e.g. Yale EPI 2024).	Health or medical promises.
Talk to the guest: "your table".	Jargon and buzzwords.
